

August 15, 1917.

Louis Raemaekers,
c/o N. Y. American,
City.

Sir:-

I cannot refrain from telling you how vile and contemptible you and your cartoons are. For instance, the one enclosed. You will condemn an entire nation upon the word of one nigger who seems to have been saved. If you know "the nigger" at all, you know how vindictive they are and what wonderful imaginations they have.

Furthermore, what about the Baralong case; also the case of the Zeppelin which was brought down and an English vessel came along, but refused to rescue the eighteen men and left them to drown.

England has certainly pulled the wool over the eyes of the American people (but thank God not all of them), and inveigled the officials at Washington (not the people of the U. S.) to fight this war for her now, and when it is all over she will take the plums, as she always has done.

Continue your dirty work of breeding and spreading hate in your own country, but for God sake leave our country alone. Germany will eventually be vindicated, there is no doubt of that, and England's "chickens will sooner or later come home to roost," and she will get what she has deserved for many years - a good sound thrashing.

Get out of our country and leave us alone, or else play fair and give everybody a "square deal."

Yours with contempt,

Margaret McAllister
Scotch-American.

I wonder how much Hearst was paid by England to engage you in this shameful work and convert his paper to the fostering of British propoganda in America. Every one knows, of course, he is on the side which pays him the most money.

August 18, 1914

John Hearst
c/o W. X. ...
City.

Sir:-

I cannot refrain from telling you how vile and contemptible you and your cartoons are. For instance, the one enclosed. You will condemn an entire nation upon the word of one nigger who seems to have been saved. If you know the nigger at all, you know how vindictive they are and what wonderful imaginations they have.

Furthermore, what about the barlong case; also the case of the Koppell which was brought down and an English vessel came along, but refused to rescue the eighteen men and left them to drown.

England has certainly pulled the wool over the eyes of the American people (but thank God not all of them), and investigated the officials at Washington (not the people of the U. S.) to fight the war for her now, and when it is all over she will take the blame, as she always has done.

Continue your dirty work of brooding and spreading hate in your own country, but for God sake leave our country alone. Germany will eventually be vindicated, there is no doubt of that, and England's "chickens will sooner or later come home to roost," and she will get what she has deserved for many years - a good sound thrashing.

Get out of our country and leave us alone, or else play fair and give everybody a "square deal."

Yours with contempt,

Wm. ...
Boston, Mass.